Category:Windows-only software Category:Professional text editorsQ: Is tf.nn.l2_loss equal to $\text{tf.reduce_mean}(x*x + y*y)$? I have an array: $a = \text{np.array}([[5, 5], [6, 6]])$ And I have another array $b = \text{np.array}([[7], [8]])$ Is it possible to use the transpose of a and b , i.e. $\text{tf.nn.l2_loss}(a, b)$ to get the same result as $\text{tf.reduce_mean}(a*a + b*b)$? A: You could use $\text{tf.where}()$: `import tensorflow as tf a = tf.constant(np.array([[5, 5], [6, 6]]), dtype=tf.float32) b = tf.constant(np.array([[7], [8]]), dtype=tf.float32) tf.where(tf.equal(a, b), tf.zeros(a.shape, dtype=tf.float32), a * a + b * b)` This will result in: `>>> a = tf.constant(np.array([[5, 5], ... [6, 6]]), dtype=tf.float32) >>> b = tf.constant(np.array([[7], ... [8]]), dtype=tf.float32) >>> tf.where(tf.equal(a, b), tf.zeros(a.shape, dtype=tf.float32), a * a + b * b)`

Its main purposes are to provide a single point of contact for magistrates and to reduce fraud within the Brazilian judicial system by enabling magistrates, judges, prosecutors and defenders of the Brazilian legal system to have access to more accurate information, improve efficiency in investigations and increase the cooperation between judges. Foundation The UMB was founded at the 66th Meeting of the "Masters of the National Court of Justice", held in Brasília on August 29, 2008. Magistrates and federal judges (the Brazilian federal magistrates and federal judges are those who administer the Brazilian legal system) have the power to request investigations and prosecution of particular people or cases, but at that time they had no single, central resource in which to turn to. According to the secretariat of the new organization, the establishment of the UMB was "inspired by the Maior e Justiça Justice Association f678ea9f9e
